

OUR GOAL

The professionals at Pacific Property Consultants have been serving clients nationwide to help solve some of the most complex building complaints and component failures. We are experts in identifying root causes of problems where other experts fail, and designing the most efficient and cost-effective permanent solutions to save clients time and money. Our goal is to constantly improve our services, gain additional knowledge about our field of expertise, stay current with the latest technologies, and never lose sight of our hands-on construction principles that has helped us achieve success.

We take great pride with our work on each project with the commitment to always do our best, to think outside the box, and to provide the most accurate analysis of your claim. We are not advocates of your claim, but work closely with your legal team to coordinate an effective strategy since we understand the law that governs your issue, as well as the multi-faceted issues facing a complex construction claim.
